FIRE SEASON IS NOT OVER

RICHFIELD, UTAH . . . The 1,000 acre Polly's Peak Fire is burning 5 miles east of Fountain Green in Sanpete County. The fire is located on lands managed by the BLM's Richfield Field Office. The human-caused fire, which started yesterday around 5:30 p.m., is under investigation. The fire is burning in pinyon and juniper and grass.

The fire is being managed by an interagency operation consisting of Sanpete County, the State of Utah, and multiple federal agencies. Volunteer fire departments from several cities in the county assisted federal agencies in suppression activities throughout Friday evening. Additional resources are assisting county resources today.

The following resources are currently assigned to the fire:

1 heavy air tanker	4 engines
4 single engine air tankers	1 bulldozer
1 lead plane	1 water tender
1 air attack	Approximately 40 overhead
1 Type III helicopter

Three Type II crews have been ordered.
